Practise Questions Episode 13: Virtues of Ramadan; the month of the Qur'an

Introduction

Do we need to have an intention for fasting and when should we make it?

Yes, you need an intention like any act of worship. Your heart at least knows what you are doing; the safest time to make an intention for fasting is at night when you go to sleep, so before you wake up for suhoor.

When you hear the name of a sahabi, you need to make dua' for them: you say radiyallahu 'anhu (may Allah be pleased with him) for one person, radiyallahu 'anhumaa (may Allah be pleased with them both) for two persons and radiyallahu 'anhum (may Allah be pleased with them) for three or more persons.

1. Just like fasting and praying, the Qur'an has virtues. One of the virtues of the Qur'an is that you get rewarded for reciting it. How many rewards do you get?
2. If you do something to get something; eg a gift, screen time etc do you get rewards for it? Who do you have to do it for to gain rewards?
3. If you read the Qur'an every day; what will the Qur'an do for you on the Day of Qiyamah?
4. Can you still do good deeds on the Day of Qiyamah?
5. Narrated by Anas ibn Malik, radiyallahu 'anhu, the Prophet, salallahu 'alayhi wa sallam said: Verily Allah has His own people. Who are they?
6. What does it mean when you are of the people of the Qur'an? Is it enough to just read the Qur'an? What else do you need to do?
7. Who are the best of people?
8. The ones who recite the Qur'an beautifully, smoothly and precisely will be in the company of who?
9. What is the reward if you struggle to read the Qur'an but don't give up?
10. What does Allah, subhanahu wa ta'ala, tell us in Surah Al-Israa, surah 17, ayah 9?
11. What will happen to those who protect the Qur'an on the Day of Qiyamah?
12. What does 'protecting' or 'looking after' the Qur'an mean?

Note: 4 Qur'an tasks this Ramadan!

This Ramadan make sure you do different things with the Qur'an; read, listen and try to memorise and to ponder. To ponder means that whenever you learn an ayah, you learn what that ayah is teaching you then you think about it and follow it up.

For example Allah is telling me to respect my parents, do I do this? What can I do better? Or the Qur'an tells me to have good friends. Do I have good friends, what must I do?

Do these 4 things with the Qur'an each day in Ramadan:

1. read 2. listen 3. memorise 4. ponder

A dua':

Aisha, radiyallahu 'anha, said that the Prophet's character was the Qur'an!

O Allah, make our character of the Qur'an, may Allah make us of the family and the people of the Qur'an and may Allah put us in Jannah with the people of the Qur'an, ameen.
